DETAILED ACTION

1. This action is responsive to communications: RCE and amendment filed on March 25, 2004 to the application, filed on April 2, 1999; prior art, filed March 25, 2004.
2. Claims 1-73 are pending in the case. Elected claims 1-8, 19-26 and 36-50 are addressed on merits in this office action.
3. The rejection of claims 1-8, 19-26 and 36-50 under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Markowitz et al., U.S. Pat. No. 6,311,185 B1, 10/01 in view of Cannon, U.S. Pat. No. 6,286,005 B1, 9/01 and in view of the Applicant's admitted well known prior art, on page 1-3 of the specification has been withdrawn in view of the amendment.

Specification

4. Examiner requests that Applicant review the application carefully for informalities including typographical errors.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains.

Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103© and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

6. Claims 1-8, 19-26 and 36-50 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Markowitz et al., U.S. Pat. No. 6,311,185 B1, 10/01 in view of Aggarwal et al, U.S. Pat. No. 6,714,975 B1 and in view of the Applicant's admitted well known prior art, on page 1-3 of the specification.

As per claims 1-8, 19-26 and 36-50, Markowitz discloses the following claimed features:

storing and retrieving performance data associated with the likelihood of the event occurring for each object and prioritizing the objects on the page according to the performance data (col.3, line 2, "A history database 210 can be consulted...when selecting the advertisement"); and the performance data includes the user's characteristics and profiles (col.3, lines 1-17, "...the user's age, sex and hobbies...demographic database...");. Although Markowitz does not explicitly disclose the pay-per-click type of advertisement payment by the advertisers, as Applicant points out (on page 2 of the specification) such was extremely well known practice in the WWW advertisement, and thus would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention.

Furthermore, Markowitz teaches the rearrangement of the advertisements on the page to provide an effective advertisement (col.4, line 20-45, "...advertisements.. could be positioned above and below the text.."). However, Markowitz does not explicitly point out that the rearrangement of the advertisement is based on the user statistics and/or profiles, and the rearrangement is done relative to one another. Nevertheless, this feature is taught by the prior art of Aggarwal. Aggarwal teaches "dynamically assigning advertisements to web pages according to self-learned user information (col.1, line 11). In the prior art, Aggarwal teaches "dynamically placing objects in slots on a web page in response to a current client request for the web page (col.2, line 56)" and that "the advertisement slot...size and location is also taken account during the real-time assignment process (col.9, line 42)." Specifically, Aggarwal teaches that "the impact of different slot sizes and locations on click/exposure" is considered for the arrangement (col.3, line 63). Therefore, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to have incorporated Aggarwal's feature into Markowitz, since Aggarwal taught the benefit of allowing the "optimizing placement of advertisements and scheduling of the web pages (col.1, line 45)" for the prospective user.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-8, 19-26 and 36-50 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
